NO VICTIM BLAMING, WE'RE PERPETRATOR SHAMING!

No matter how much you have had to drink, or if you have left your drink unattended for a few seconds – spiking is always the fault of the perpetrator.

Spiking is a criminal offence. If you are spiking someone to rob or sexually assault them, this is another criminal offence.

You will be banned from the on-campus bars

You will face an investigation under the student code of conduct and could face expulsion

You may face criminal charges and up to ten years in prison
