

Randox sponsorship of UU Sports

Randox is a global market leader within the in vitro diagnostics industry, developing innovative diagnostic solutions for hospitals, clinical, research and molecular labs, food testing, forensic toxicology, veterinary labs and life sciences.

Formed in 1982, it is now the largest healthcare diagnostics company from the UK & Ireland. Employing over 2,100 staff and maintaining a string of commitments to R&D and innovation – with up to 25% of turnover committed to such purposes each year.

Randox's partnership with Ulster University sport commenced in 2017 when they supported a GAA tour of China as part of the University's wider programme of engagement in key international markets, sponsored by Randox. The Randox student sports sponsorship deal at Ulster University then began in 2018 and is one of our longest standing partnerships.

Supplying kit and equipment for over 70 sports clubs across the university's four campuses, including individual and team sports such as basketball, GAA, hockey, football, athletics and more. For example, this investment from Randox has helped the University to install world leading performance analysis equipment.

Dr. Peter FitzGerald, Randox Managing Director: "Randox is passionate about fostering talent and see our university-wide student sports sponsorship as a brilliant opportunity to nurture the young sporting stars of Northern Ireland. We are delighted to extend our partnership with the Ulster University sports teams and look forward to supporting these students as they thrive in both sports teams and look forward to supporting these students as they thrive in both the sporting and academic spheres."

