UUSU Good Relations Policy

Good relations within the context of UUSU, means promoting better relationships between people from different political, religious and racial backgrounds, tackling racism and promoting cultural diversity and inclusion.

UUSU strives to create good relations on campus and to tackle inequality and promote the benefits of diversity within UUSU, Ulster University and wider society. As a forward-looking organisation, created to support and represent our members, we shall strive to ensure that preference is not given to, or advantage withheld, from any member of the Union on the grounds of religious belief, political opinion, racial group, age, marital status, gender identity, disability, sexual orientation or those responsible for dependents.

This Policy applies to all Students' Union members, activities, societies and services. It focuses particularly on the good relations characteristics of race, religion and political opinion. It encompasses areas including political expression, culture, language and dress code. This policy subsumes the existing Students' Union Political Protocol (since 2014).

Aims of UUSU in terms of Good Relations:

- To ensure that students of different racial groups, culture, gender, political and religious belief are welcomed and supported in an environment in which they are free to participate fully, safely and without fear, whilst respecting the diversity of opinion and the rights of others;
- To make a positive contribution for an inclusive, tolerant and open environment for all studying at Ulster University;
- To create opportunities for political leadership for those who are underrepresented within Ulster University, and wider society;
- To foster and encourage healthy debate and exchange while excluding violence or threat of any kind;
- To ensure that student culture in Ulster University is vibrant, open and tolerant based on our principles of acknowledging and welcoming diversity, promoting equality of opportunity and access and ensuring that students of all backgrounds are welcome and free from intimidation or threat.

Implementation of these Aims:

- Adoption of the Good Relations policy, and promotion of such to all students;
- Ensuring all events and services are delivered in the spirit of this policy;
- Proactively promoting diversity and inclusion through further policies and practice, for example UUSU Diversity Networks and seats for underrepresented groups on Student Council.

Responsibility for Implementation:

The President of UUSU will be responsible for reviewing this policy, with all student officers being responsible for displaying the values and promoting inclusion.

All members of UUSU are responsible for upholding these values and ensuring their behaviours do not discriminate against others.

Definitions

Diversity describes the range of visible and non-visible differences that exist between people. Managing diversity harnesses these differences to create a productive environment in which everybody feels valued, where talents are fully utilised and in which organisational goals are met (Kandola and Fullerton 1998).

Inclusion in equal opportunities terms is about making every member of a community feel that they are not prevented from taking part in any activity, applying for any job, applying to become a student in any Higher Education Institution, because of any personal characteristic relating to their race or ethnicity, gender, disability status, sexual orientation, religion or belief, age or socio-economic group. Policies and practices that are open, fair, transparent and equitable encourage inclusion.
